Bond Committee Asks Council To Call Special Election

PROJECTS GO TO VOTERS IN FALL

Total of $1,705,973 for Civic Improvements Upon Ballot

The report of the Citizens' Bond committee, recommending ten projects be placed on the ballot at a special election, which would call for a bond issue of $1,705,973 for civic improvements, was given to the City Council today by D. H. Smith, general chairman.

The report follows the action of the committee as a whole taken last Thursday night, when the final meeting of the committee was held.

Urges Election Soon

Mr. Smith, in presenting the report, outlined the various projects enumerated by the committee and the amount of bond issue the members of the committee thought would be needed for each. He asked that the question be submitted to the voters of Glendale at the earliest possible date.

The report, as read by Mr. Smith, and signed by him and Mrs. Frank Weller, secretary of the Citizens' Bond committee, follows:

Glendale, California, August 4, 1924.

Members of the City Council, Glendale, California.

Gentlemen:—The Citizens' Bond committee, consisting of representatives of twenty-nine civic organizations of this city, organized at the request of City Manager V. E. Stone, for the purpose of investigating and initiating public improvements, has made complete and thorough investigations of needed public improvements through nine sub-committees, and as a result of such investigations the committee as a whole does hereby recommend that the following bond issues be submitted to the voters of this city for their approval.

Herrick Stricken With Illness, May Quit Envoy's Post

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—President Coolidge has been advised of the illness of Myron Herrick, United States ambassador to Paris, it was learned at the White House today. The president is hopeful, however, officials said, that Herrick will be able to continue his duties at Paris and that he will not be forced to retire from the foreign service.

Navy Will Mobilize In Southland Waters

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 5.—What is declared to be one of the greatest mobilizations of an American naval armada is scheduled to take place in southern California waters early next year. According to a copy of operating orders for the United States fleet as received by the 11th naval district here, more than 150 warships and auxiliaries, together with aircraft squadrons of the Atlantic fleet, will gather off southern California next February.

Although no mention is made in the orders of the proposed cruise to Australia, local officials declare the cruise has been approved and in all probability will follow close on the heels of the cruise to Hawaii.

Perhaps the greatest naval spectacle ever planned for Pacific coast waters is on tap for San Diego next February 25 to March 12, inclusive, when destroyers, battleships, seaplanes, airplanes, submarines and the navy dirigible Shenandoah as well as many other vessels will engage in battle practice off this port.

Assault Watchman In Plot to Desert Navy

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 5.—Police today had under arrest Joseph Carr and George Miller, alleged deserters from the navy, charged with the beating of V. Pelican, night watchman of a local naval outfitting company, who is in a serious condition at the Mercy hospital, as the result of the attack. According to the arresting officers, Carr and Miller admitted the beating of Pelican and explained their act by saying they did it in order to obtain civilian clothes with which to desert from the navy.

CLARION, Iowa, Aug. 5.—Bandits, traveling in a large automobile, swooped down on Galt, near here, today, cut all wires in to the town, wrecked the interior of the Bank of Galt, with dynamite, and made their escape. The amount of loot has not been determined.

They were married here at the home of Frank Lloyd, the director. Beery is the former husband of Gloria Swanson, divorcing her in 1918.

GASOLINE TAX KEPT OFF BALLOT

Proposed Act Fails to Get Enough Signatures for Qualification

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—Four initiative proposals have qualified for submission to California electors on the November ballot and three others have failed to qualify for lack of signatures, according to a check up made at noon today at the office of Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan. While the final hour for filing petitions does not expire until midnight tonight, Secretary of State Jordan said that all county clerks have reported and no change in the present standing is expected.

To Go On Ballot

Measures which have qualified and which will go before the people are:

State water and power act; boxing bill, legalizing twelve-round no-decision and ten-round no decision bouts; Klamath river preserve act, prohibiting building of barriers on the Klamath river; motor carriers, gross receipts tax, restricting the tax on stages to 4 per cent of their gross receipts.

Fail to Qualify

Proposals which failed to qualify or were abandoned by their sponsors were:

Act to legalize teaching of the Bible in schools, legislative reapportionment act, act to permit cities to participate in collections under state 2-cent gasoline tax.

Fourteen constitutional amendments proposed by the last legislature will also appear on the November ballot.

Legion Members Hold Frolic at Convention

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Aug. 5.—The sixth annual convention of the American Legion, department of California, was in recess today except for a big street parade at 10 o'clock this morning. The entire day was given over to the "Forty and Eight," the playground of the American Legion, made in connection with the 2000 delegates and members of the Legion convention. More than 2000 delegates and members of the women's auxiliary are attending the convention here this year.

A number of cities are making bids for the next department convention, among them being Fresno, Bakersfield, Santa Rosa and Stockton, with Fresno apparently slightly in the lead in popularity. The Raisin city claims many advantages which the other contestants cannot offer, and the members of the Fresno delegation are confident that they will entertain the Legionnaires of California next year.

Praises Ambassador For Work In Mexico

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Extending Charles B. Warren full credit for the establishment of the "most cordial relations" that have ever existed between the United States and Mexico, President Coolidge today accepted Warren's resignation as American ambassador to Mexico City. At the same time Warren issued a statement in which he declared the Coolidge administration must be given credit for putting America's international relations on a better basis "than has existed for a long time."

Exchange Club Will Do Its Share For 'Safety Week' Plans

The purpose and need of the automobile safety week in Glendale, August 10 to 16, under the direction of The Glendale Evening News, was explained to the members of the Glendale Exchange club today noon by Merrill Davis, a member of The Evening News staff, at the luncheon held at the Harriett Mae Tea Room.

Mr. Davis quoted facts and figures furnished by the Automobile Club of Southern California, setting forth the number of lives lost last year in automobile accidents, and the financial value, based on the statistics of the United States census bureau in computing the value of a person's life to society and advancement of the nation.

While no formal action was taken by the members of the club on the proposed safety week, many expressed their views on it, and agreed any project which would tend to eliminate or lessen the number of accidents would bring great results to Glendale. Cards calling attention to automobile safety week were placed at each place.

Rescind Action

The members of the club rescinded the action taken last week, when they voted to permit political candidates to speak at meetings. After considerable debate, the members voted to allow political candidates to speak, provided they did not advocate or stress their own or anybody else's candidacy.

B. H. Trauger, secretary of the Long Beach Exchange club, invited the members of the Glendale club to a dinner dance to be given in Long Beach August 15. The charter for the Wilmington club will be presented at that time, he said. R. L. Jones, a member of the Long Beach club, was present at the meeting today.

George Karr, past president of the Glendale Rotary club, who was a guest at the luncheon today, spoke on the community spirit evidenced by all service clubs of the city, and characterized it as a big factor in the future growth and welfare of Glendale.

Actor Is Guest

"Billy" Anderson, who appeared for seventeen years on the Orpheum circuit, delighted the club members with songs and dialect stories. J. C. Walsh, of the Burr Creamery company, told the faith of the officials of the creamery had in Glendale, which led them to invest $100,000 in a new plant here. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Walsh were the guests of Roger Jessup, a member of the club.

Paul Adams and Billy Wilson, entertainers from the Egyptian Village, furnished musical and instrumental numbers, through the courtesy of H. N. Fowler. Mr.

Announcement in The Glendale Evening News last Saturday and yesterday that this newspaper would direct a "Safety Week" in Glendale, August 10 to 16, inclusive, in connection with the Automobile Club of Southern California, automobile dealers, merchants, realtors, service clubs and citizens in general, was today followed by the following proclamation from Mayor Spencer Robinson:

PROCLAMATION!

WHEREAS, The protection of our citizens through the elimination of every hazard is a matter that vitally concerns every resident of Glendale, and

WHEREAS, It is recognized that many of the traffic accidents that occur on our streets might be avoided by the exercise of a greater degree of care, now, therefore,

I, SPENCER ROBINSON, mayor of the city of Glendale, do hereby proclaim the week of August 10 to 16, inclusive, as SAFETY WEEK, and I urge on all citizens of Glendale that they co-operate to make this movement, that has the endorsement and support of all organizations interested in the good of the city, a success, by exercising due diligence and care in the avoidance of accidents; that they endeavor to minimize the number and the seriousness of the accidents that occur here by observing to the letter the existing rules and regulations; that the drivers of automobiles exercise due precautions for the safety of themselves and of others; and that pedestrians also be alert to avoid all possible accidents while using our streets.

Given under my hand and the seal of the city of Glendale, this fifth day of August, 1924.

SPENCER ROBINSON, Mayor of Glendale.

Councilman C. E. Kimlin moved at this morning's session of the Glendale City Council, that the report of the Citizens' Traffic committee favoring a boulevard stop system be referred to Virgil B. LONDON, Aug. 5.—In a speech tingling with anti-French bitterness, former Premier David Lloyd George this afternoon in the House of Commons severely criticized Premier MacDonald because no definite agreements had been reached regarding the evacuation of the Ruhr.

Seek Person Who Put Drug In Grape Juice

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—San Bernardino authorities prepared today to question persons with whom David B. Morrill, 61, a school teacher of Devore, was said to have had "a quarrel" recently, following his death from the effects of drinking poisoned grape juice, according to word received here today.

Mrs. Rose Morrill, widow of the teacher, who died in a hospital Saturday night, informed the coroner's jury in San Bernardino that their home had been entered a short time ago but nothing had been stolen. This has led authorities to believe that some one, perhaps seeking vengeance, had entered the Morrill home and poisoned the grape juice.

Irish Revolt Looms Over Border Dispute

DUBLIN, Aug. 6.—President Cosgrave of the Irish republic was reported this afternoon to have warned the English government that the Irish republicans may attempt to seize the Free State if there is further delay in adjusting the Ulster boundary dispute.

President Cosgrave wants a boundary commission created at once in conformity with the terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty. Colonial Secretary Thomas and Home Secretary Henderson of the London government are here conferring with President Cosgrave.

California Fruits Show Price Advance

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—There has recently been an increasing demand for raisins, dried apricots and prunes. The price of choice apricots is around 13-15 cents a pound, as against 10 cents last year. Prune prices are slightly under last year's figures while dried peaches and raisins maintain last year's levels.

World Flyers Buck Heavy Wind In 300-Mile Trip To Reykjavik

REYKJAVIK, Aug. 5.—Despite a heavy gale, Lieutenant Lowell Smith and Lieutenant Eric Nelson, American round-the-world flyers, arrived here safely this afternoon from Hornafjord, where they hopped off at 9:15 o'clock this morning.

The Yankee airmen arrived at 2:10 o'clock, taking 4 hours and 55 minutes for the journey.

Both aviators made good landings in the harbor.

Smith and Nelson encountered high winds all along the south coast, but their sturdy planes bucked them.

The distance from Hornafjord is approximately 300 miles.

The cruiser Raleigh, which has been stationed at Hornafjord, patrolled off the coast at this port. The flight from Hornafjord to Reykjavik was made in a seventy-mile gale. The wind aided the fliers on the first lap of 120 miles along the east coast of Iceland, but when they turned around and skirted the west coast, they flew into the teeth of the gale.

After Lieutenant Smith and Lieutenant Nelson hopped off from Hoefn Hornafjord, advice were received too late from Reykjavik from Lieutenant Crumrine, army aviator at Hoefn Hornafjord, who suggested the flight be abandoned for today because of weather conditions.

The fliers were sighted by the United States ship Billingsley at 11:47 a. m., passing Cape Portland, the southern tip of Iceland. At 1:25 p. m. they passed the U. S. Reid, midway between Cape Portland and Reykjavik. They reached Reykjavik at 2:10 o'clock.

RADIUM PACK IS HELP TO BEAUTY

Complexion Treatment Will Make Skin Soft as Velvet, Expert Declares

"Beauty is only skin deep," so we are told by sages of old, and if this literally be true, it then behoves every woman to look carefully after her complexion or else be forced to wear a "mask"
in order to be beautiful.

Mrs. Rose Anderson of the Glendale Beauty shop, located at 103-A North Brand boulevard, suite No. 1, after making a careful study of dermatology and research work along this line, has decided upon a radium mud pack which she uses in her work for the purpose of drawing up the relaxed muscles into their original position, thus giving that youthful contour for which all women long. This system of treatment also reduces enlarged pores and energizes the derma, producing that soft, velvety skin which is a thing of beauty and a joy to possess.

Makes Special Rate
For the next thirty days Mrs.
Anderson is making a special rate in this radium pack treatment, which should be an inducement to every woman to get her complexion in readiness to correspond with the richness and elegance of the new fall apparel which milady will soon have to adopt.

In addition to this especial line of work in which Mrs. Anderson is particularly interested, a specialty is made of hair cutting and marcelling by this popular beauty shop.

DANGEROUS FIRE MENACE REMOVED

Citizens Aid Department In Cleaning Up Brush
From Large Area

EAGLE ROCK, Aug. 5.—One of the most dangerous potential fire areas in this section has been burned off by the local fire department, aided by a score or more residents. The area burned is the hill bounded by La Roca avenue on the west, Tenshaw place on the north, Vincent avenue on the east and Yosemite drive on the south.
Had the fire started from accidental cause the story would have been a much different one than this. By reducing this, and other fire hazards, residents feel, the local fire department has been instrumental in bringing about a less dangerous condition in Eagle Rock than has ever been known here in past years.

No Serious Fires
While there are still many pieces of vacant property that present a menace, the police department has been working with the fire department to eliminate as many as possible and the result is that there have been practically no serious grass fires in Eagle Rock this season.

Aside from controlling fires
after they have started, it is considered one of the primary duties of the fire department to prevent fires. The men in charge of the work have tried to impress upon local residents that this is their fight for the safety of their homes, and they feel certain that in their message really carried to the people they have sought to reach, that they would be backed to the limit in this campaign.

Weaver, was born in Illinois, sixty-eight years ago. They were married at Beardstown, Ill., July 22, 1874. Twelve years ago they came to California and for two years have resided in Eagle Rock.

granddaughter live in this community.

URGE UNIVERSITY SITE IN BURBANK

C. of C. Committee Appointed To Urge Location on Authorities

BURBANK, Aug. 5.—The Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee comprising Dr. David Thompson, Mrs. May Clarke and David Bricker, to urge upon the University of Southern California this city as the seat of their future home. In the event the oft-heard rumor of removal to a new location is well founded.

It will be the duty of this committee to get in touch with the powers that be in the circles of this university and call their attention to the fact that Burbank can offer the ideal location for such an institution of learning, and the further fact that Burbank wants the university bad enough to do anything within reason in bringing it to this city.

Learn of Accident Telegraph dispatches carry the news of the death in an automobile accident of Miss Mina Hock-enberry and the injury of her father, M. B. Hockenberry.

This information will be received with regret by a good many in Burbank, for the Hockenberrys were residents of this place in 1918, when the father was principal of the high school. The daughter, now dead, was a schoolgirl under the instruction of Miss Lulu Snyder. She would have been a member of the class of '23 had the family remained here, but, accepting a call from Fresno, Mr. Hock-enberry went to that city, where he has since been employed.

Mrs. Lillie Treese, who is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. H.
Treese of Olive avenue, received a letter the other day from a son in Indianapolis, which was sent by airplane.

Sister of Mrs. Evans Will Continue Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—"If anything happens, press the issue to the limit," read the last letter of Mrs. Rosalie Evans, rancher, slain by Mexicans, to her sister, Mrs. W. J. Pettus, wife of the chief surgeon of the Marine hospital here.

So, unmindful of the fate of her sister who fought five years to preserve the estate left by her husband, Mrs. Pettus will leave today for the Puebla valley of Mexico to take up the management of the ranch and "carry on" the work her sister was doing under difficulties.

Mrs. Pettus is thoroughly familiar with conditions there through visits, having been fired upon while riding with her sister on one occasion.

An airplane squadron is now used to guard travelers in the Sahara desert.

DECIDE DATE OF VALLEY EXHIBIT

Industrial Exposition Will Be Staged at Burbank September 9-13

Plans for holding an industrial exposition that will be thoroughly representative of all the industries in the San Fernando valley have advanced to such a point that the sponsors of the movement have been able to set the date for September 9 to 13.

The exposition is to be held at Burbank and is backed by the Chamber of Commerce of that city. Pledges of support have been received from the various Chambers of Commerce in the valley, it is stated by Director General Charville, as well as from the Greater San Fernando Valley association and the Associated Chambers of Commerce of San Fernando valley.

To Show Industries

The plans are to assemble under one roof samples of the product of every manufacturing industry or enterprise in the valley. As this will include the product of the canneries and packing-houses, the expectation is that San Fernando, Palmdale, Van Nuys, Lancaster, Reseda, Chatsworth, Girard, Owensmouth, Peralpines, Chatsworth and Newhall, as well as Hollywood, Glendale and Burbank will be represented.

The principal purpose of the exposition is to firmly establish San Fernando Valley-made products in the minds of residents of Southern California, to lend encouragement to the industrial establishments already in the valley, and to encourage others to become interested.

Vote for Queen

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Burbank Municipal band. The chief local feature will be the selection of a queen to preside over the destinies of the exposition, and it is probable there will be made of honor from each of the neighboring cities. The opening day's program will be devoted especially to Burbank and Glendale, with succeeding days allotted to the other cities.

PLAN SURVEY OF BOYS' ACTIVITIES

Delegates of Service Clubs To Aid Y In Making Investigations

A survey of boys' and men's activities in Glendale were outlined at noon today at a luncheon meeting at the Alley Inn of representatives of the Y. M. C. A., service clubs and the De Molay. This group intends a detailed survey covering all parts of Glendale and if their goal is reached they will have some information that will be of inestimable value to the city.

Present at the meeting were Rex C. Kelley, Y. M. C. A. executive; Arthur H. Dibbern, boys' work chairman of the Rotary club; Dr. F. R. Gartley, representing the Kiwanis club; Dr. R. C. Logan, representing the Optimist club; Francis J. W. Henry, representing the De Molay. A representative of the Exchange club and R. Ernest Tucker are to be members of the committee.

Details Sought

Some of the information the survey is to secure will be: Number of boys from 10 to 18 years of age in Glendale; number of boys in school; number of boys working; number of young men; number of men up to 45 years old, who would be interested in the athletic privileges of a Y. M. C. A. building; number of boys and men in church and in Sunday school; number of boys and men reached by boys' and men's organizations; number and variety of amusements, either uplifting or detrimental; recreation centers; juvenile court reports and costs; welfare demands of boys and men in Glendale.

Musical Atmosphere Lures Young Soprano

Although living in Southern California for some time, Miss Irma Jacobs, talented young vocalist, and her mother, Mrs. M. H. Jacobs, have just taken up their residence at 208 West Lomita avenue, Glendale. Miss Jacobs, like many artists, was attracted here by the musical environment and harmony of association and by the opportunity of giving out of her talents and commingling with those whose ability lies along the same lines.

Miss Jacobs, who is a pupil of Madam Anna Ruzena Sprotte, gives great promise of making a name for herself as a lyric soprano, as all will attest who have heard her. She is a welcome favorite at the radio stations. For two years she was soloist and director of the Baptist church of Ontario, Cal., and during the last year she was instructor of a class in vocal, and soloist of the Presbyterian church of that city.

Sea Fighter

CAPTAIN PAUL KOENIG, German blockade runner during the world war, is coming to America as a passenger on a liner. He commanded the Deutschland.

Captain Paul Koenig of the German navy, who was something of a hero in the United States in 1916 because he succeeded in eluding the allied blockade in the commercial submarine Deutschland and landing in New York cargoes of dyestuffs and other merchandise, will be in New York again shortly, but under somewhat different circumstances. He is on his way over on a liner as an ordinary passenger.

GAINS ARE SHOWN IN REGISTRATION

Total for Glendale Reaches 13,405; Predict Record Vote In November

Registration figures compiled for Glendale in preparation for the coming primary election to be held August 26 show a total of 13,405 for the city.

The voters expressed their adherence to the various political parties as follows: Republican, 8,513; Democrats, 2,554; Socialist, 78; Prohibition, 303; while 1,957 registrants declined to state what party they desired to affiliate with.

The greatest Los Angeles city and county registration ever recorded, 572,139, has been tabulated by Acting Registrar of Voters Kerr and certified to Secretary of State Jordan.

The tremendous roster of voters represents an increase of 48,712 over the presidential primary of last May, and an increase of 150,801 over the August primaries two years ago. On a conservative population factor of 3.5, the current registration indicates that Los Angeles city and county have a combined population in excess of 2,000,000, and that the city's share in this figure exceeds 1,116,600.

Outnumbering the Democratic registration almost three to one and representing more than 50 per cent of the total registration, the registered Republicans in Los Angeles city and county number 851,957, of which 19,836 are residents of the city, and 154,221 of the county. The Democratic registration for the city of Los Angeles is 72,051, and for the county, 56,436, a total of 128,487.

Other registrations are: Prohibition, 11,635; Socialist, 7304, and declined to state, 73,656.

The astounding gains in the voting population during the last four years are strikingly indicated by the fact that the Republican registration alone for the primary election this month is within 3000 of the registration for all parties and independents in 1920.

Should this rate of increase continue it is probable that Los Angeles city and county will approach and possibly exceed a registration of 600,000 for the general election in November.

May Send Parcels by Airplane Mail Route

Instructions received by the local postal officials from the Post-Office Department at Washington, D. C., state that the air mail service may now be used for sending insured and C. O. D. packages, the arrangement to take effect at once.

The usual mail plane postal rates will apply to such packages. Assistant Postmaster George Hallett points out. These rates are 8 cents per ounce from the coast to Chicago; 16 cents per ounce to New York; and 24 cents per ounce to New York. Weight limits on packages will be the same as those in force for parcels post.

TENDER NAME FOR FOOTHILLS ROAD

Ask Planning Commission to Christen Highway Glen Oaks Boulevard

Representatives from the Fourth Street Improvement association were present at last night's session of the City Planning commission, held at the City Hall, Chairman W. H. Watson presiding. They thanked the commission for the progress that has been made in the comprehensive plan to convert Fourth street into a foothills highway from Pasadena to Burbank, via Glen Oaks boulevard, Sierra avenue, Sycamore Canyon road, Monterey road, the flood control channel and Fourth street, and expressed their willingness to have this proposed highway named Glen Oaks boulevard its entire length.

J. H. Randall, president of the association and a member of the City Planning commission, stated that the Sierra Avenue Improvement association has already voted to change its name to the Glen Oaks Boulevard Improvement association, in order to foster the proposal, and suggested that the commission take up with the members of these two associations the matter of this change.

The commission set 8 o'clock Monday night, August 11, for a hearing, when members of the Fourth Street and Sierra Avenue Improvement associations will be present at the City Hall and go into the matter in full, following which the commission will make recommendations to the City Council.

It was announced at the meeting that representatives from the City Planning commission have been invited to inspect the plant of the Foster & Kleiser company, outdoor advertisers, 1550 West Washington street, Los Angeles. J. H. Randall and S. C. Kinch signified their intention of going.

They were among the city officials and representatives from various clubs who assembled at the Chamber of Commerce rooms this noon, to make the tour. The Chamber of Commerce was represented by Secretary E. F. Sanders.

This invitation is in connection with the recent action of the City Council, amending the former billboard ordinance by passage of a new ordinance, permitting billboards within the Glendale city limits, but leaving their location entirely in the hands of the City Planning commission.

May Send Invoice In Parcel, Says Jackson

Permission to enclose a written or printed invoice or bill in a parcel sent through the mails is granted by the postal authorities, according to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, who points out that the invoice must show the name and address of the sender and the addressee. Other details that may be shown on the invoice are the contents of the parcel, the names and quantities, together with identification, price, style, stock number, size and quality of articles, the order or file number, date of order, date and manner of shipment, and the initials of the salesman, packer or checker.

A letter accompanying the parcel must be attached and must bear letter postage, says Postmaster Jackson, but if a letter is enclosed in the parcel it will raise the postage rate on the package to 32 cents per pound.

Prison Worker Given Pardon by Governor

Vincent J. Steffan, state prison chaplain for the California synd of Presbyterian churches, who addressed delegates at the annual synod held in Glendale in July, and gave a report of his work he had accomplished in prison work in the past year, was pardoned today by Governor Richardson, according to word received in Glendale.

Steffan was paroled from San Quentin in 1918, after serving part of a sentence for second-degree burglary. It was his third term in prison, and during the time he was in San Quentin on parole he took up prison welfare work for the Presbyterian church, was ordained, and has conducted a number of meetings in prisons.

Realtors to Consider Convention Program

Consideration of the plans to put Glendale on the map at the coming annual convention of the California Real Estate association in Pasadena in October will form the principal topic at tomorrow's meeting of the Glendale Realty board in the Alley Inn. W. L. Twining, chairman of the convention committee, will present the report of the organization as formed last Friday night and it is expected that additional sub-committees will be appointed to assist in the task of making Glendale the outstanding city at the convention.

LEGION MEMBERS TO FIGHT FIRES

Glendale Veterans Thanked For Unanimous Action In Pledging Aid

P. J. Hayselden, chief of the Glendale division, Angeles Forest Protective association, has written the following letter to J. A. Wilson, commander of Post 127, American Legion, thanking the post for its co-operation in volunteering to organize a Legion unit of the association:

Glendale, Cal., Aug. 4, 1924. J. A. Wilson, Commander, Glendale Post American Legion, No. 127, Glendale, Cal. Dear Sir: Your communication of August 2 was received today, advising me that at your regular meeting of August 1, forty men out of forty-two present had volunteered and had signed their names and addresses to a list on a call for the formation of a Legion unit of the Angeles Forest Protective association, and further that only two members out of all present had not signed for the reason that they were both incapacitated for work, being rated by the government as totally disabled.

Spirit Is Praised On behalf of the Glendale division of the Angeles Forest Protective association I desire to thank the Glendale Post American Legion for such a splendid display of civic pride and the keen interest in the welfare of their city and all the more for having volunteered and in such a unanimous manner.

In sincere appreciation of your splendid efforts, I am Very truly yours,

P. J. HAYSELDEN, Chief Glendale division Angeles Forest Protective Association.

Posse Waits at Mouth Of Mine for Bandits

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Aug. 5.—A large posse continued today to besiege the Palisade mine near here, where three members of a bandit gang that is alleged to have dynamited and robbed the Palisade postoffice safe of $15,000 have been hiding since Sunday. All attempts to force the men to surrender have failed, and it was planned today to burn sulphur, the fumes from which are expected to penetrate all the inner chambers of the mine and drive the men to the portal, where a score of armed officers are prepared to battle the fugitives.

Perform Operation at Glendale Sanitarium

A minor operation was performed this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital on Ralph Bixler of 308 East Wilson avenue.

SAUL FRANK IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Resident Here Nine Years, Member of Elks' Lodge, Passes Suddenly

Saul Frank, for nine years a resident of Glendale, well known as a member of the Elks lodge, died suddenly yesterday, Monday, August 4, 1924, at his home, 214 North Central avenue, at the age of 69 years. Mr. Frank was apparently in good health on Sunday, but was taken ill during the night and his condition grew worse until his death.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Sarah Frank, and a sister, Mrs. Sylvia Gregor of Detroit, Mich.

Mr. Frank, who came to California in 1911, formerly resided in Gobles and Kendall, Mich., where he was engaged in the dry goods business for thirty years. He was held in high esteem by all who knew him and was considered as one of the most popular business men in that section of Michigan.

Member Local Elks

He was a member of Hudson Masonic lodge, No. 325, Gobles, Mich.; a member of the Eastern Star chapter of Gobles; a member of Paw Paw chapter, No. 34, Paw Paw, Mich., and a member of Glendale lodge, No. 1289, B. P. O. E.

During his residence in Glendale Mr. Frank invested in real estate and transacted a number of business deals.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow, Wednesday, at the funeral home of the Jewell City Undertaking company on North Brand boulevard at Wilson avenue. Rabbi S. Hecht, of B'nai B'rith temple of Los Angeles will officiate.

The Glendale Elks will have charge of the burial service in the Home of Peace cemetery in Los Angeles.

During his residence in Glendale Mr. Frank made a large number of friends here, and their heartfelt sympathy is extended to the surviving member of the family.

Return From Motor Trip to Many Points

Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Rockhold and J. S. Bardsley of 330 Burchett street, returned Sunday night from a delightful outing of several weeks. The trip was made by motor going to Lake Tahoe, and by way of Twin Falls, Idaho, to Yellowstone park. Before turning homeward they visited Boise City, Walla Walla, Yakima, Seattle, Tacoma, passed through the Hood River country, went to Shasta Springs, Portland and many other points of interest. They were entertained by relatives in many of these cities and returned south by way of Palo Alto, Pismo Beach and Santa Barbara.

Proud of Plant Children, it is pointed out, must be accompanied by their parents during the hours when the postoffice is opened for inspection, as it is desired to conduct the thoroughgoing through it with as little confusion as possible.

"We have got our new plant working smoothly," says Postmaster Jackson, "and we want the people of Glendale to look it over and to feel the same pride in it as we who are working here do."

Scientists to Study Wild Life In Sierras

Prof. Alfred Cookman of 336 West Pioneer drive, with Dr. H. J. Andrews and son, of Hollywood, left this morning for a two weeks' trip in the High Sierras to secure data on wild life in the mountains of California. They took with them complete camping equipment as well as equipment for their scientific work.

Leaving Glendale by motor, they plan to go across the Mojave desert to Bishop; then into Inyo county to Mammoth lake. From there they will go on over the crest of the Sierras to Devil's Post Pile, 9500 feet high, and on to Rainbow falls. They are to secure horses at the end of the automobile road, four miles from Mammoth lake. On the trip home they will visit the Big Trees.

Prosperity for City Here, Says U. P. Agent

C. A. Redmond, resident United Pacific agent, offers a most cheerful argument to those pessimistically inclined as to business conditions. Mr. Redmond says: "Glendale is going to have much prosperity during the remainder of the summer and in the fall. Only yesterday one transfer company brought thirty-three trucks to Glendale. They may have belonged to Glendaleans returning from vacations, and on the other hand they may have belonged to new arrivals in the city. Whichever it may be, the business situation in Glendale is most promising."

Awaits Cure

MRS. WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, suffering from paralysis, pins her faith on Divine Healing as a means of recovery.

In Hazlehurst, Ga., Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, wife of the frequent candidate for president, is waiting to be cured of paralysis. She followed Raymond T. Richey, a "faith healer," from Florida. "I believe in Divine healing and I believe that if my faith is great enough when I mount the altar in the tabernacle I will be healed," she says. Mrs. Bryan, who will meet her in Hazlehurst, is also a firm believer in Divine healing.

CHURCH MEMBERS PLAN RECEPTION

Rev. C. A. Cole Will Return Friday From Summer Trip Abroad

A hearty reception home is being planned by Central Christian church people for Sunday, when the pastor, Rev. Clifford A. Cole, will be home from a summer trip abroad. Mr. Cole left Chicago last night and is expected to arrive in Glendale on Friday. Floyd Mercer, who has been acting pastor, during Mr. Cole's absence, was in attendance at the recent convention at Long Beach. He was accompanied by Mrs. Mercer and they report that fine delegations went to the beach from Glendale.

HOBBY CLUB HAS IDEALISM AS AIM

Organization Is Planned to Foster Interchange of Members' Theories

Something new under the sun is the Hobby club, of which Arthur E. Warren, 1319 Barrington way, is one of the organizers. His associates in the unique venture are Raymond W. Hough and Bethel C. France. They have incorporated under the state laws and plan to make Los Angeles the clearing house for the hobbies of the world.

The club has opened headquarters at Room 533, the Douglas building, Los Angeles, according to information furnished The Glendale Evening News in a letter signed by Mr. Warren, and hopes to enlist in its ranks hobbyists from all over this country and every country, it being one of their theories that hobbies are characteristics of the human race.

Encourage Idealism

The club will make no effort toward commercial exploitation of any hobbies that may have value. Mr. Warren is careful to point out idealism being a prime requisite for membership. It is the ambition of the organizers ultimately to establish permanent headquarters in many communities, circling the globe with branches of the parent organization, much as social service and current event clubs are organized.

Another prime requisite for membership in the Hobby club is that one be devoted to some sort of hobby or another. A hobby is defined in Webster's dictionary as: "a subject or plan to which one is constantly reverting, a favorite and ever-recurring subject of discourse."

Means of Happiness

Raymond W. Hough, who really conceived the idea, according to Mr. Warren, believes that a hobby is just about the choicest possession in life, saving many a man or woman from trouble and oftentimes bringing health, wealth and happiness; and he believes that many an obscure person has a hobby that, made known, might benefit the whole race. It is to exchange hobbies to mutual advantage that the Hobby club was conceived by him and has been organized and incorporated with the collaboration of his associates.

Official of Realty Board Ends Vacation

Miss Winifred Traver, executive secretary of the Glendale Realty board, has again assumed her duties at the board office in the Security building after her three weeks' vacation. Part of the time was spent at San Diego and part at Catalina.

During Miss Traver's absence Miss Helen Burland assisted in the office of the board.

BARRELS OF MONEY

Have you ever thought how easy it is to spend the loose change that you have in your pocket?

That same "loose change" is just as easy to save as it is to spend—once you get the habit.

Everyone would like to have a "barrel of money." Everyone can have a "barrel of money" if they will save their "loose change."

To help its depositors save their "loose change" the Glendale State Bank furnishes them with Money Barrels. Place one of these Money Barrels on your dresser at home or on your desk at the office. Deposit in it each day, for example, a half-dollar, quarter or dime. The practice will soon become a pleasure and the result a surprise. You will have a "barrel of money" before you know it, and your bank account will grow to a point where it will be of real value to you.

Repetition of this practice will soon make it a habit. One "barrel of money" will lead to another.

When the Money Barrel is filled our teller will open it and count the money for you, enter the amount on your pass book and you are ready to start again. And remember, our little "money barrels" are so constructed that they cannot sprink a leak.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

Thou dost not love thyself better than He loves thee. Thou canst not shrink from pain more than He dislikes thy bearing it; and if He puts it on thee, it is as thou wilt put it on thyself, if thou art wise—for a greater good afterwards.—John Henry Newman.

OUTDOOR ADVERTISING

It was probably a good move on the part of the City Council to repeal the ordinance prohibiting billboards in Glendale and to pass another allowing the billboards but placing them under the jurisdiction of the City Planning commission. At least, it is said that the former ordinance could not have been enforced.

There is a difference of opinion in regard to the desirability of billboards within the city. There are those who think this outdoor advertising cheapens the community and commercializes the landscape. But the average citizen, perhaps, thinks a billboard an improvement over a weed-grown neglected lot. These outdoor advertisers clear the lot of weeds, plant grass and flowers, embellish the signs with art work and light them artistically. The posters themselves are often works of art. They keep everything neat and in repair. Separate forces of men are employed to put up the posters, keep the boards painted, clean the statuary, care for the lights and do the landscape gardening. So, in this way, the billboards are desirable and the step taken to allow them in Glendale is not so greatly to be regretted as some have thought.

The matter is now in the hands of the planning commission. These men are wide awake to the good of the community and will not sell out the city to the outdoor advertisers. It may be selfish to remind them that the newspapers have done a great deal to build up the city, that they have made large investments and are giving employment to great numbers of Glendale people, and that the coming of the billboards into Glendale will probably mean a considerable curtailment of business for the newspapers.

The Glendale Evening News commends the man who is wide-awake to the value of any and all kinds of advertising. There is a value in billboard advertising that is worth-while. The individual unconsciously absorbs the name of the firm, the product, or the slogan as he passes the sign in the automobile or street car. But newspapers are necessary for real, substantial, detail advertising where dependable information is sought. And the newspaper reaches many places where the billboards do not go.

LOS ANGELES NEEDS MEN

War on graft and inefficiency in city government is being waged by a Los Angeles newspaper. The men who are being attacked are more to be pitied than blamed, for they are ordinary men, small men, with a few exceptions, and they are probably doing their best according to their lights.

A city with a future like Los Angeles needs big, far-seeing men, and it is a pity its progress is hampered by those who have no vision and very little ability. A few men who could and would help Los Angeles on to its high destiny are hindered and obstructed by those in authority whose only concern aside from personal aggrandizement is the petty problem of today.

One of the chief faults of the southern metropolis is its system of annexation without representation. As one Southern California newspaper has so ably expressed it, "The lure of Los Angeles, backed by the mighty magnetism of geographical grossness, has reduced one prosperous, enterprising community after another, to abject spiritless forms of their former selves, with the inspiration departed. Places where subdividers, real estate dealers and merchants have gone, and where proud civic improvements were fostered, degenerate, under the ever-increasing bonds and bondage of Los Angeles."

Los Angeles is big, too big for the men who govern it. And yet its development is not what it could and should be. Large in area and numbers, Los Angeles is still governed, as it were, by the village board, by men not broad enough to see the city as a whole or to grasp the truth that all the communities that go to make up the city have their own problems and their own needs and are entitled to impartial consideration.

What Los Angeles needs is a few real men, big men, in the city's government.

TELEPHONED PHOTOGRAPHS

Such strides have been made in science and invention and such wonders are accomplished daily, that the announcement that photograph negatives had been sent by telephone by a perfected method during the Republican National convention, caused scarcely a ripple of comment. It is true, the method used is not entirely new, but is a perfection and a combination of other inventions.

The method used is really as simple as the transmission of sound between widely separated points by means of the telephone. A negative is wrapped around a cylinder of the transmitting machine in such a way that a beam of light passing through the negative can impress upon a photo-sensitive cell the variations of light and darkness in the negative. These are carried to the receiving machine in much the same manner that variations of sound are carried as variations of electric current.

The perfection of a method of telephoning photographs will revolutionize the manner of illustrating newspapers, will be of immense value to police departments, and doubtless, will be valuable in other ways that do not yet appear.

THE ART OF MAKING EXCUSES

More people are adept in the art of making excuses than in any other line. There is scarcely anyone who is not naturally gifted, and who has not had considerable experience in framing alibis. We are so fearful lest we lose our self-respect or make ourselves ridiculous as a result of making a mistake or committing a sin that we instinctively defend our actions by recounting the extenuating circumstances. It is a very rare person who can say, "I was to blame," and then not modify the admission by trying to justify himself. It is human nature to wish to appear well in the eyes of others and it seems to be the natural thing to try to prove that we were more the victims of circumstance than of our own folly.

In a certain rubbish dump were found several tons of discarded hairpins and tortoise shell combs. This is a case of the hair winning and the tortoise losing.

Los Angeles police have been campaigning against gamblers who make oral bets at the ball park. "No betting aloud" is their motto.

DON QUIXOTE AND SANCHE PANZA ARE ALL SET FOR THE BATTLE OF THE GIANT WINDMILLS

Laboring Men

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There are two distinct classes of laboring men:

One saves up money and the other does not.

One exercises his emotion in hating other classes;

the other thinks his class is as good as any, hence the class feeling does not bother him.

In a recent address to the Association of Conservative Clubs, at the Cannon Street hotel in London, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, M. P., said that the gifts and powers which public life in England demanded today were not the peculiar prerogative of any class and might be found throughout all ranks in the country.

"The standard of life in this country," he said, "as in any other country, can only be improved by the most perfect co-operation of those who work with their hands and those who direct that labor and those who supply capital."

"Where the attempt has been made to set up a working socialism, the small heap they had for division before the war has dwindled now to nothing, with the result that in that country they have had starvation."

The prosperity of a country can only be increased by the prosperity of the people in it. It cannot be increased by taking away from one class and giving to another.

By the increase of co-operative societies and with trade unions, by the development of habits of thrift among all people, the capital in a country is increased and made more accessible.

It is by working together and by understanding each other that we come to a general prosperity.

There is no prosperity in working against each other or considering those who are not in our class as enemies to society.

It is as necessary to understand every class and the motives of labor as it is to understand foreigners.

Only those who keep their minds and hearts open are in a position to get along with their neighbors.

The curse of any number of people, or any group of people, is isolation and provincialism.

What makes a class dangerous to a country is that it is a class; that is to say, the two convictions; one that we are superior to others and the other that we should be afraid of others.

Every war has sprung from these two things, whether it be a war of classes or a war between countries. The sense of superiority and the sense of fear have been the two moving motives of war. The more we understand each other and the less we fear each other, the less occasion there is for conflict and the more occasion there is for co-operation.

The motto, "Blessed are the peacemakers," is not confined to the church, but to members of all classes and of all countries who understand others. It is their business to make all those other friends and co-workers instead of enemies and competitors.

The Ravings Of a Grouch

To the average person life is no more nor less than a big disappointment. Very few people realize the dreams of their youth. The young man and maiden, "standing on the threshold of life," as the commencement orator says, look forward with eager joy to the wonderful things life holds in store for them. Everything and anything is possible for them. No goal of accomplishment is too high, no anticipation of happiness is too great.

What a wonderful Providence it is who conceals from this boy and this girl the truth that in a few short years they will come to the end of the road with this spirit of high endeavor quenched by competition with others in the race of life, having achieved nothing they had planned and having enjoyed none of the pleasures they had so fondly believed were to be theirs.

How often it happens that a youth starts out in life with the most alluring prospects. He has the qualities of mind and heart that point to greatness and he has had the opportunity to prepare himself for a large usefulness in life. And then he turns out to be mediocre, an average workman, his enthusiasm quenched by one disappointment after another, one failure after another until his consciousness becomes dulled.

If we could know in our youth the disappointments and the disillusionments we were to suffer even the more fortunate of us would scarcely have the strength and fortitude to face life, but we take things as they come one after another and somehow we live through them and go on in our narrow, commonplace, restricted existence as if this were the thing we had set out to do, as if we were seeing the fruition of our youthful dreams and plans.

After all it is a great accomplishment to look back to youth and our youthful ideals and then contemplate what life has brought us and not become soured on the world. We were fired with enthusiasm and unafraid when we started on this journey of life toward our high goal and we are still courageous if we can take life's chastisements without whimpering.

The number of people who win fame and high position in the world by sheer force of character is small. They are few who achieve the happiness they dreamed of. But those who display real bravery and real strength of will in the face of the disappointments and the chastenings of life are many.

The hope and faith and zeal of youth are wonderful. The fighting courage that comes with disillusionment is often the only thing that makes later life worth living.

Foil Bandit Raid on Express Co. Offices

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—An alleged bandit was injured, six others captured and three escaped early today after a twenty-minute gun battle with twelve detectives who frustrated a robbery on the offices of the American Express company. A fortune in currency and merchandise was untouched. Detectives clubbed six of the men into insensibility after one dropped under their revolver fire.

POISON GAS FATAL

SANTA ANA, Aug. 5.—E. D. Powers is dead here today, the victim of an alleged attempt to rob an authority store. According to authorities, Powers broke into the store and was overcome by cyanide fumes placed in the building for fumigation purposes. In his automobile, parked nearby, burglars' tools were found, police said.

HE'LL NEVER GO HUNGRY

A colored preacher in Alabama had at one time served a short jail sentence and was fearful lest his congregation discover the fact as in his later years he had been a model of rectitude. One Sunday, rising to begin his sermon, his heart sank to see a former cellmate sitting in the front row. Quick thinking was necessary. Fixing his eye on the unwelcome guest, the preacher announced solemnly: "Ah takes my text this mornin' from de sixty-toth chapter and fo' hundredth verse of de book of Job, which says: 'Dem as sees and knows me, and says nothin', dem will Ah see later.'"

Radio-equipped motorcycles have been put into service in the east, to cope with automobile bandits.

Horoscope

Jupiter in benefic aspect dominates this day, according to astrology. The Sun also is in friendly way.

It is a planetary government stimulating to all lines of business. Merchants and manufacturers should benefit.

The rule is one encouraging to preparation for big enterprises and forecasts extraordinary demand for certain products.

All the signs appear to encourage both men and women to make ready for a winter in which they will meet many unusual conditions.

Because the seers foretell a manifestation of world unity which compels the United States to assume new obligations, thrift again is enjoined on Americans.

This should be a favorable rule for all who seek public favor. It is held to be lucky for candidates for political office.

Uranus is in an aspect that presages danger of industrial troubles in which labor organizations will exert great power.

All through this month railways will continue to benefit for freight as well as passenger traffic will be heavy.

In the Middle West and the Far West nature will inflict losses, the seers prophesy.

Again shipping troubles are foreshadowed and there may be also wrecks at sea. Sudden storms of wind and rain will be numerous.

France comes under a rule more inclining toward serenity than formerly.

Scotland and all places under Cancer should benefit for the remainder of the year.

Persons whose birthdate it is have a pleasant forecast which promises prosperity. Care, however, should be exercised in overcoming temptation to spend money recklessly.

Children born on this day probably have a life of pleasant success. These subjects of Leo usually enjoy all the good things that wealth commands and they manage to satisfy every desire.

Today's Poem

IN TEMPTATION

Jesus, lover of my soul,

Let me to thy bosom fly,

While the nearer waters roll,

While the tempest still is high;

Hide me, O my Saviour, hide,

Till the storm of life is past,

Safe into the haven guide,

O, receive my soul at last!

Other refuge have I none,

Hangs my helpless soul on thee;

Leave, ah, leave me not alone,

Still support and comfort me;

All my trust on thee is stayed,

All my help from thee I bring;

Cover my defenseless head

With the shadow of thy wing.

Plebeous grace with thee is found,

Grace to cover all my sin;

Let the healing streams abound,

Make and keep me pure within;

Thou of life the fountain art;

Freely let me take of thee,

Spring thou up within my heart,

Rise to all eternity!

—Charles Wesley.

Who's Who

Failing eyesight may bring to a close the career of the great French painter, Claude Monet.

Who at the age of 84 continues to paint every day. Monet is still strong and hearty, only his eyesight, he declares, prevents him from working as much as ever.

The great French painter was born in Paris, November 14, 1840. In his youth he met with great struggle when he began experimenting with broken color and painting atmospheric effects according to science of light and shade. He was the first man to paint real sunlight and his method has been imitated ever since by followers of the impressionistic school of landscape.

A few years ago an American offered Monet $3,000,000 for the thirty paintings he made of his garden. This offer was refused, the great man instead presenting the entire collection to the French nation. A museum specially to house this gift is now being built. Today a Claude Monet brings a bigger price than the work of any other living painter in France, and one may possibly say, in the world.

Monet lives in complete retirement in his beautiful home at Giverny, near Paris, jealously guarding his "rain" from the intrusion of all report—critics and photographers. The only people admitted to his sanctuary are his few intimate friends, among whom are Gillaumin, the painter, and Georges Clemenceau, the statesman.

Actress Charges Cruelty

ELSIE BARTLETT alleges that her theatrical partner, JOSEPH SCHILDKRAUT, abused her cruelly during the shows where they appeared together.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—He took advantage of the fact that they were playing together on the stage and cruelly abused her every night and two afternoons a week, avows Elsie Bartlett, who is preparing to file suit for a divorce against Joseph Schildkraut, famed stage and movie hero. They have been married two years. Lately they have been appearing together in "The Highwayman," Schildkraut, who first won stardom in Europe, is noted in this country for his playing of the thugish hero in "Lillom," and for romantic roles on the silver screen. Friends say there will be a reconciliation, but Schildkraut denies it. All he has to say is this: "I love my wife and always shall. And I repeat now that there can be no reconciliation. Can a headless man be beheaded? Can a reconciliation take place when there has been no friction?"

U. S. Aviators Make Flight In Terrific Gale

ant Eric Nelson, United States army "round-the-world" aviators, departed at 9:15 o'clock this morning for Reykjavik.

The Yankee airmen expected to reach their objective early in the afternoon. This leg of the flight is 300 miles long and carries the fliers along the southern coast of Iceland. From Reykjavik the fliers will jump off for Greenland.

The aviators were up at day-break scanning the horizon and getting weather reports from the American warcraft patrolling the flight route.

The two planes—the New Orleans and Chicago—which had been thoroughly overhauled yesterday, were inspected once again, for it was anticipated that head winds might be encountered along the coast of Iceland.

Finally, the word was given that weather conditions warranted a continuation of the flight. The motors were tuned up and the great machines rose from the surface of the harbor with their exhausts roaring.

The entire population of the village turned out to give a demonstration.

British Aviator Not Able to Continue Trip

CORDOVA, Alaska, Aug. 5.—"For the sake of the air forces, I am sorry to have failed so. Conditions almost impossible for flying."

This message from Commander Stuart MacLaren, British "round-the-world" flier, to the air ministry in London, picked up here today told the disappointment of the aviator at the failure of his attempt to circumnavigate the globe by air.

The British cruiser Thiepval, which picked up Commander MacLaren and all members of the flight after the big British plane had been forced down in a fog off Bering Islands, reported she was sailing direct for Dutch Harbor from Nikolay. The wrecked plane and its crew is aboard the Thiepval.

Argentine Flyers In Hop to British India

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Major Zannia, Argentine "round-the-world" aviator, has departed for Nasirabad, British India, said a despatch from Karachi this afternoon. A previous despatch from Rangoon intimated that the South American aviator was weather-bound as a cyclone warning had been announced in the bay of Bengal region.

Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs In Convention

Chief A. H. Lankford of the Glendale fire department is among the 300 delegates from all the states west of the Rocky mountains, attending the Pacific Coast Chiefs' convention, which opened this morning at the Maryland hotel, Pasadena, and will continue four days, closing Friday, August 8.

From the moment the convention opened at 9 o'clock this morning, it was evident that prevention of forest fires would be the most important problem taken up by the delegates, practically all of whom come from sections where the forest fire hazard has been made grave by the prevailing condition on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Kreager, who has been in business in Glendale a year and a half, was a former student at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena. Uncle Sam's Bargain Sales Nearly Ended WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Since the world war armistice war munitions costing $3,764,939.101 have been liquidated by the government. From these sales the federal treasury has received $1,295,089,732.

At the office of the chief coordinator it was stated that property valued at $371,081,000 has been transferred between departments.

"I am pleased to announce that Uncle Sam's post-war bargain sales are nearly concluded," Budget Director Lord declared. "We have still, however, quite a nice assortment of dry docks, marine railways, buildings and miscellaneous supplies which we will sell for $25,000,000."

Civilized People Are Best Fighters, Claim

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Nations that are the most highly civilized are the best fighters, according to Professor Gilbert Murray. "It is a strange thing," Professor Murray said, in an address at a conference of the League of Nations Union, "that on the whole the races that have come to the top in civilization and which have produced the greatest contribution to the nobler life of mankind, are the pugnacious races."

The task of the League of Nations, Professor Murray asserted, is to save these pugnacious races from perishing by their own pugnacity.

THANK CITY FOR SYNOD WELCOME

Letter to Mayor Robinson Tells Appreciation of Church Delegates

Appreciation for the spirit of welcome shown to the delegates to the recent Presbyterian synod that met in the Glendale Presbyterian church is conveyed to Mayor Spencer Robinson in the following letter from Rev. William S. Young, D. D., stated clerk of the California synod: The Synod of California of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A. Los Angeles, Cal., August 2, 1924.

Stated Clerk and Treasurer, Rev. Wm. Stewart Young, D. D., 573 South Boyle Avenue, Los Angeles, California.

The Mayor, Spencer Robinson, Glendale, Calif. Honored Sir:—The Synod of California greatly appreciated your cordial words of welcome, which so truly expressed the sentiment found on all sides by the members of synod as they moved among your citizenry. The stay of the synod was greatly enjoyed, the sessions were truly profitable and the going away after the sessions were over, was with the sincere feeling that it would be good to come again.

With appreciation of the genuine good public spirit of Glendale, On behalf of the Synod of California.

Yours cordially, (Signed) WM. S. YOUNG, Stated Clerk.

Would Divorce Hubby Who Hugged Too Hard

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—Declaring her husband hugged her so tightly it hurt her, Mrs. Rose Oropallo's suit for divorce is on file here. She sets forth that her husband, John, squeezed her so hard she was injured. Occasionally the man choked her, Mrs. Oropallo alleges.

Ball Bearings Hold Frog Down to Earth

LODI, Aug. 5.—Folks who have been scoffing for more than half a century at the possibility that Mark Twain's famous jumping frog of Calaveras ever existed were definitely silenced here by Clarence, who loaded to the gunwales with the latest model ball bearings, is making vain efforts to jump for distance. Clarence is noted hereabouts as a weather prophet of note, and from her tank at the city pump station is wont to swell her stomach when a rainy spell is in the offing, reversing the proceedings during dry weather.

Her latest avocation began when Engineer W. J. Webb was dismantling an ancient flivver. Clarence sampled a ball bearing, liked its flavor and went back for more, aided by Webb, who garished them with oil. Now Clarence can't jump any more, and the one-time problem of keeping her out of mischief has apparently been solved.

Many Brooklyn Folks Are Wedded In June

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The bureau of licenses at Brooklyn issued 3128 marriage licenses in June, an increase of 258 over the corresponding month last year, according to Thomas F. Maher, deputy city clerk. The only June in which this record was beaten was in 1920, when the number of licenses was 3391.

Plan to Launch War On Caterpillar Horde

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—A horde of caterpillars sweeping over the trees and shrubbery of public parks and private property in Brooklyn has created a serious problem. The authorities may appeal to the Entomological Bureau at Washington for aid in the fight on the parasite.

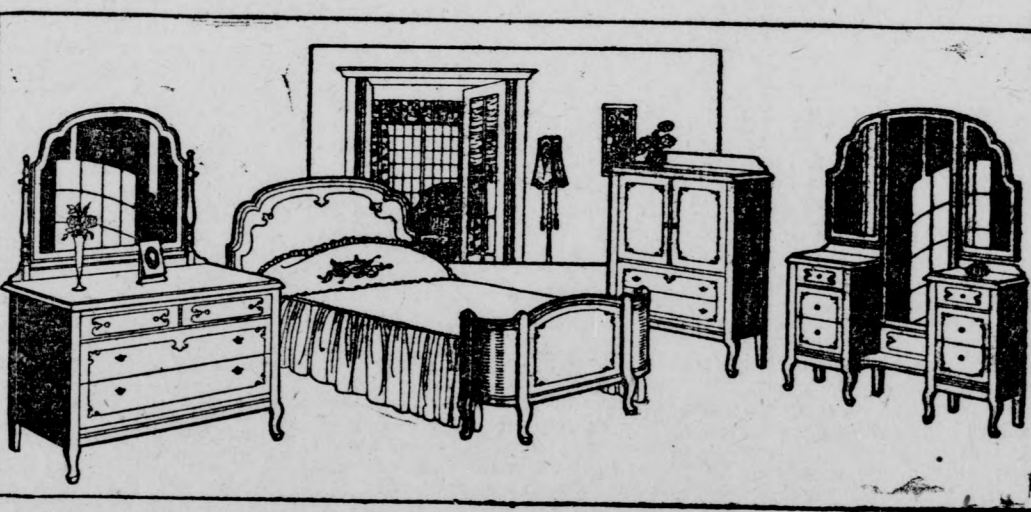

HEAT HARNESSSED

Experiments have been conducted in Italy looking toward the utilization of volcanic heat. The idea is to convert it into motive power and the results thus far are promising. In Japan, where there is constant volcanic activity on a fairly large scale, the experiments are being closely watched.

SPEECH DEFECTS—No. 2

In yesterday's paper on speech defects, I gave a partial resume of an article in the May 24 issue of the American Medical Journal, written by Mabel Farrington Gifford, B.S., director of the Speech Clinic of the University of California hospital.

Now I'll continue with the resume of her article:

Miss Gifford's conclusion after her long experience, is that the only method of cure of the nervous speech defects (stammering, stuttering, clattering and nervous hesitation) is psychologic re-education. That consists of teaching the conscious control of the speech mechanism and giving new positive ideas of control, poise and confidence. The three predominant fears; obsession; that the speech organs will refuse to work, the fear of being ridiculed, and the fear of being thought inferior have to be destroyed.

With the subnormal child, a speech defect is a question of lack of mentality and inability to comprehend. The treatment of this case is a slow building up of word associations by means of toys, pictures and the like, and will succeed according to the degree of intelligence.

Under infantile substitutions, Miss Gifford places lispings. These speech defects are caused by baby talk and mistakes made in early childhood which are not corrected. The little patients do not realize that they are talking incorrectly. Mere placing of the tongue in the right position by means of a wooden spatula, or with the use of a mirror, followed by drill, will correct this defect.

MALFORMATIONS—Imperfect speech caused by malformation of the speech organs is a defect of purely mechanical nature. In this group are harelip, feeble or very short upper lip, overshot jaw, narrow palate, cleft palate, slushy palate, nasal obstructions, tongue-tie and very irregular teeth. The treatment in most of these cases is surgical, followed by speech re-education.

VOICE DEFECTS NOT ORGANIC—The emotional state, excitement or anger or irritability, usually results in high pitched voices. Timidity will result in low, weak tones. Lack of breathing will result in coarseness and loudness of voice. Nasal tones

Old Housekeeper: "My husband and I have never given a wedding anniversary party, but we thought we'd like to do so this coming fall. You see, I am writing you well in advance of the date! Can you help me by suggesting some kind of appropriate game to play?"

Answer: I wish all of my Reader Friends would write me as far in advance of timely events as you have! So many of them wait till a week or two before the time, and then I may be overloaded with readers' letters, which for the sake of fairness I must answer in rotation. The first to come receiving the first answers. Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will gladly send you (or any other reader) my multigraphed article called "Games for Special Occasions," which gives directions for playing a splendid Wedding Anniversary Game as well as directions for games suitable for Halloween, Christmas and St. Valentine's Day.

GLENDALE FIELD LURES NEW FIRM

Realty Man and Contractors Find This City Best In Southland

The entry of another active real estate and building contracting firm into the business life of Glendale is marked by the closing of a deal by which J. B. Brown & Company, of East Los Angeles, have taken over the lease and fixtures of the firm of Stumpf & Caldwell, 219 1/2 East Broadway, and will become identified with these lines of business in this city.

J. B. Brown & Company have been located in Eagle Rock for many years, but their operations have spread over many other southern cities. One of the recent contracts that the firm completed was that of erecting twenty-five houses at Goodyear Park, Los Angeles, which are said to have been sold out, with the exception of one house, before construction was finished.

Present Buildings
The firm is now completing what is said to be the finest building in Eagle Rock, fronting 125 feet on Colorado boulevard and 140 feet on Maywood avenue. This structure will contain eight apartments, with a large service garage and stores and will be occupied by one of the leading automobile leaders of that city. Another building erected by the firm was the Eagle Rock bank, containing, besides the bank, stores and apartments.

D. M. Caldwell, who found it necessary to alter his building plans after the recent death of his partner, Craig E. Stumpf, will remain with J. B. Brown & Company. "Glendale is the best town in Southern California," says Mr. Brown. "The co-operative spirit is fine and I like the way everyone is educated to buying at home. This makes for prosperity and success."

MORE ABOUT HENNA

Last week I talked a little about M. Joerin's method of using henna to give different shades of hair. If you want to try any of his ways of touching up gray hairs, or of giving lustre and color to lifeless hair, or frankly of dyeing white hair, I would advise you to read up on his method. Afterward go to your hair dresser, if you think she is intelligent about scalp and such troubles, and get her to color your hair for you. She'll know more about it than you, in any case, and she'll be more expert in handling the various materials.

I quote M. Joerin because I sat by him and watched him "do" a friend's head recently when I was in England. Her hair was once a rich brown, deep in tone, but with bronzy lights that were admired when she was young. Being 40 or so, her hair is naturally gray, mixed with white. Except for the she might pass as less than 30.

M. Joerin took Indian henna, powdered, added the juice of one lemon, and enough pyrogallol acid as would cover half of a ten cent piece—a mere pinch you see. This was all mixed to a paste with hot water, kept hot and applied hot to the scalp with a brush like an overgrown toothbrush. He parted the hair deftly with a smooth wooden stick, slathered on the hot paste, parted it again and so on over the head. The covering took but a few minutes. Then he rolled light strips of absorbent cotton around the head so the paste would not cool unevenly, nor too quickly. He went out; in a few minutes he came back, peered at the odd looking mess, apparently saw results we couldn't see, went out and came back again and shampooed all the paste off. When dry, the color was the merest shade too bright, but the hot iron waving darkened it to a better tone. In three days it was much darker, the real color of her hair, in fact, and without a gray thread in sight.

D. W. M. L. K.—Take a daily full hot bath and you will find this will relieve the pores of your face so that the blackheads will gradually disappear. An exercise to reduce the bust is as follows: Stand elbows back as far as possible, aiming to make them meet, and repeat the movements until you feel all the chest muscles fully exercised.

Rosette—At 8 1/2 years, height five feet, six inches, your weight should be about 125 pounds. Add some of the green vegetables to your diet, especially the young dandelion, and you will clear your skin of sallowness.

D. D. M.—Massage your arms with any nourishing oil to help fill them out. You can easily develop them if you play tennis.

A Reader—As there was no address enclosed no answer could be mailed to you.

Kid curlers may be purchased at the toilet goods counters in any of the large department stores.

The pilocarpine tonic often mentioned in the Chats would help your scalp.

INSPECTORS HALT ALFALFA WEEVILS

Crop Pests Taken From Cars Entering California At State Line

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—During June alfalfa weevils, which are a major pest of alfalfa in Nevada, Utah, Colorado and Oregon were taken from no less than sixty-one automobiles entering California from other states, by state department of agriculture inspectors. From one camping equipment carried in an automobile 140 live weevils were taken and destroyed.

Although California is protected from the natural flight of this insect by mountain barriers and desert, the possibility of its introduction by means of the automobile is very apparent, according to G. H. Hecke, chief of the department of agriculture. It is one day's travel from the infested Nevada fields to the alfalfa-growing sections of California, he said.

A total of 5,635 automobiles were examined during the month on the California-Nevada highway at inspection stations.

Student Enrollment Increases 20 Per Cent

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—An increase of more than 20 per cent in the school attendance here, for the past twelve months, is shown in the school budget which has just been passed by the county board of supervisors.

The budget shows a total enrollment of 109,000 students or 19,365 more than were enrolled at the same time a year ago. This student total will call for an appropriation of $20,308,307 for operation and maintenance during the year, being $3,779,382 greater than the budget total for this date in 1923, or an increase of 23.6 per cent.

In making the announcement of the year's budget total, the board of education reports that the assessed valuation of the city school district now totals $1,252,891,780, which is $570,529,985 greater than five years ago.

.. BUTTERFLY ..

By KATHLEEN NORRIS. Copyright, 1924.

To Craig it was very pleasant to stand there, warmed by his brisk walk, and watching these two radiant girls in their shabby tramping clothes, with the hair blown about under their plain little soft hats, and their faces rosy. He thought he had never seen such exquisite color as glowed in both faces. On their fine skins the living bloom palpitated delicately, as if the young blood were racing beneath it; he liked the careless way in which they gathered up their loosened hair for the walk home, and for the first time their sisterhood impressed him oddly: it was sweet to see sisters so interested, so affectionate, toward each other.

They walked together to Sugarhouse Lane; Hilary did not ask him to come further, and Craig walked on with an odd sense of being snubbed. A week later he deliberately went to call.

After that he went two or three times a week; he became their dear and privileged friend, he laughed at all their momentous problems, heard all their debates, advised them, and gave them advice in turn. When Hilary, in a burst of economical madness, tried to bake her own bread with a patent mixer, he and Dora watched the result anxiously. When young Mrs. Potter was ill, and the Collier girls took in her baby for three nights, he shared with them the responsibility of the croupy Buster, and sat smoking contentedly beside the tiny tight stove, watching Hilary in the rocker opposite, with a look of content upon her fine face, and the baby luxuriously sprawled in sleep on the skirt of the little blue corduroy.

If Dora was restless about her practice—to Craig she seemed the merest infant—he reproached her in brotherly fashion. Come, now, she must be good—she didn't want to disappoint her sister, did she?

The little house in Sugarhouse Lane, its microscopic menage, the hours of talk, of music, of merry little meals in the tiny kitchen, came to seem, to Craig, the sweetest part of his life. Hilary with her responsiveness, her keenness, her courage and goodness, he thought the finest woman he had ever known. He tried her by a hundred tests, and found her wanting nowhere. She was better educated, even now, than he would ever be, she was cleverer, she had the old-fashioned quality of goodness. And Butterfly, the adorable child of moods, the little girl who was in many ways

"Why Men Leave Home" is meeting with favor in the eyes of playgoers, who last night packed the tent theatre of Murphy's Comedians on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, in order to see this hilarious Avery Hopwood comedy.

Well, I tried it, and it was wonderful! Wait until you hear me play it!"

"I thought I was mean, and didn't know what I was talking about," Craig teased her. He loved the change in her bright face; the honest flush, the embarrassment that fell over her gypsy mood like a veil. What a little girl she was!

"Craig," she said, courageously. "I'm—I'm sorry. Will you—will you forgive me?"

"Why, you little goose!" he said, tenderly, touched by her sweet and childish humility, "you don't think I minded?"

Hilary had gone on, smiling, into the house. He and Dora were alone at the gate. He found himself looking at her in bewilderment, as she talked, as if he had never seen her before; as if warm, young hand his own hand lay forgivingly, was an entire stranger. Yesterday she had just been little Butterfly, chattering and confiding and impetuous and eager. Now there was something oddly new about the red mouth, and the brown eyes, and the bright soft masses of hair with the sunset streaming on them. Dora—was this Dora—?

He began to realize there was something peculiar and new in his feeling for Dora, and that she was strangely important in his new plans. They must take great care of Dora, she was an extraordinary child. She was, in fact, the most remarkable child he had ever known.

She must never marry; that was flat. It was horrible to think of the average man, in fact of as being entrusted with Dora. Perish the thought! The chances of her being misunderstood—abused—unhappy, were too terribly probable. Delicate little exquisite body—trusting brown eyes—mouth so ready to curve for either laughter or tears—

Craig's aunt was giving a dinner that night, but he was poor company. He started absently ahead of him, scowling faintly, biting his lip. Horrible! To have Dora unhappy—to have the little Butterfly crushed by some unheeding, sensual brute—

UNCLE WIGGILY'S LEMONADE STRAWS

"Isn't it hot!" grunted Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, as she slumped down in a chair on the shady stoop of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow one day.

"It is rather warm," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Still I don't seem to mind it so much."

"No wonder—you aren't as fat as I am!" laughed Mrs. Twistytail, who was jolly enough to joke about how big she was. "Oh, but I am so hot!" she sighed.

"How would you like a cool glass of lemonade?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"It would be lovely!" grunted the lady pig. "Have you any?"

"No, but I can make some," said Nurse Jane. So she squeezed the juice out of some lemons, put the juice in a pitcher with some water, sugar and chunks of ice from the cave of Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear gentleman.

"Oh, that sounds good!" sighed Mrs. Twistytail, as Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy stirred the lemonade, the muskrat lady housekeeper, in the pitcher.

"I hope it will taste as good as it sounds," said Nurse Jane. And then, all of a sudden, she thought of something and exclaimed: "We haven't any hollow straws to sip our lemonade through! Oh, I must have some straws! Uncle Wiggily will get them for us."

"Why must we have straws?" asked Mrs. Twistytail, looking thirstily at the lemonade.

"Oh, it is ever so much more cooling to sip your lemonade through a straw," said Nurse Jane. "It lasts longer that way, too. Oh, Wiggily, my dear!" she called to the rabbit gentleman, who was twinkling his pink nose out in the yard. "Will you please get some lemonade straws for us?"

"Right gladly will I do that!" cried the bunny in his jolly voice. Then, knowing Nurse Jane and the lady pig were in haste to drink the cool lemonade, Uncle Wiggily jumped into his automobile and started for a field where some wheat grew. Wheat straws were good through which to sip lemonade, he knew.

Mr. Longears gnawed off a bundle of hollow straws, taking care not to crush them, and he was riding back to his bungalow with them, when, all of a sudden, out from behind a sassafras bush popped the Black Bear.

"Stop," cried the Bear, holding up one paw.

"What do you think you are—a traffic policeman?" asked the rabbit gentleman, respectfully, but firmly. "Stand aside, please, so that I may hurry with these lemonade straws to Nurse Jane and Mrs. Twistytail."

"No, I will not stand aside!" growled the Bear. "At least not until I nibble your ears!"

"Oh, ho! So you would nibble my ears; would you?" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Wait a minute!" With that he jumped out of his auto. From the road he gathered some fine pebbles and bits of gravel stones. These he put in gravel straws. "Now I have a bean blower," said Uncle Wiggily to himself.

Taking a long breath, the bunny blew through the straw. The dust, gravel and pebbles puffed into the eyes of the Bad Bear.

"Oh, wowzie!" he howled, covering his face with his paws. "I can't see! My eyes are full of dust!"

"Then you can't see to nibble my ears! Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. And while the Bear was still rubbing the dust from his eyes, the rabbit jumped back into his auto and soon brought the lemonade straws to them waiting animal ladies. Then they all sipped the lemonade together, and were much cooler. But don't any of you try to blow dust in a bear's eyes. Only rabbits are allowed to do that.

And if the piano doesn't go up in the attic to ride on the old spinning wheel, when it ought to be playing with the phonograph, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Bunty's ball.

British Recall Early Days of World War

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Lengthy war memories, but cheerful forecasts for Europe's future, were printed yesterday by British newspapers on the tenth anniversary of England's entrance into the great war.

Newspapers expressed the hope that permanent peace is at last on the way. Premier Ramsay MacDonald, Laborite head of the British government, was lauded for his success in the allied reparations conference.

The allied conference, incidentally, will extend its international aspect tomorrow, with the entrance of the Germans. It is understood that the Germans already have expressed their willingness to accept the proposals of the "big seven," heads of the allied delegations.

WHITE SOX LEAD PLAY ON PUBLIC IN RUNS SCORED LINKS BIG HELP

Twenty-five Victories See Afford All Youths Without 191 for Glendale and Wealth Opportunity to 90 for Opponents Attain Standing

The record of the Glendale White Sox, with twenty-five consecutive victories, which was stopped Sunday by the Navy All-Stars of San Diego, by a 4 to 2 score, shows the Glendale team scored 161 more runs during those twenty-five games than did their opponents.

There were only two shut-outs in the entire list, and nine games were won by a one-run margin. The total number of runs made by the White Sox in twenty-five games amounts to 191, while the runs made by opponents reach 90. Four of the twenty-five games were played away from home.

The dates of the games, the victims and the scores for the twenty-five consecutive victories, follow:

- February 22—St. Louis Giants, 2; White Sox, 11.
- February 23—Lankershim, 1; White Sox, 12.
- March 2—St. Louis Giants, 2; White Sox, 6.
- March 9—St. Louis Giants, 6; White Sox, 7.
- March 16—Pasadena Merchants, 7; White Sox, 8 (10 innings).
- March 30—Pasadena Merchants, 2; White Sox, 11.
- April 13—Buick Autos, 7; White Sox, 10.
- April 20—Sawtelle, 5; White Sox, 6.
- April 27—Colored All-Stars, 1; White Sox, 6.
- May 4—Pasadena Merchants, 6; White Sox, 11.
- May 11—Pacific Electric, 3; White Sox, 4.
- May 17—Bayer-Rothgeb, 6; White Sox, 7.
- May 18—El Segundo, 2; White Sox, 3.
- May 25—Gilmore Oil, 4; White Sox, 5.
- June 1—Colored All-Stars, 0; White Sox, 10.
- June 8—Pasadena Merchants, 4; White Sox, 9 (at Pasadena).
- June 14—Gilmore Oil, 12; White Sox, 13.
- June 15—Pacific Electric, 0; White Sox, 6.
- June 22—Pacific Fleet All-Stars, 6; White Sox, 8.
- June 29—Van Nuys, 2; White Sox, 8.
- July 5—Catalina Cubs, 2; White Sox, 8 (at Avalon).
- July 6—Catalina Cubs, 5; White Sox, 6 (at Avalon).
- July 13—El Segundo, 3; White Sox, 7 (at El Segundo).
- July 20—Van Nuys, 1; White Sox, 3.
- July 27—Gardena, 1; White Sox, 9.

The above table shows the average number of runs made each game by the White Sox to be nearly eight, or 7.64, to be exact, while the average for their opponents was less than four, or 3.6, to be exact. In eighteen games, the White Sox played only eight innings, while their opponents played the full nine innings.

Of the seven games played by the White Sox where the Glendale team batted more than eight innings, four were games away from home, where they had the first bats, one went ten innings, and the other two were won in the ninth inning. Thus, the White Sox were at bat in 208 innings, while their opponents batted during a total of 220 innings.

Wrigley said he expected to be here a month and before he returns East definite decision would be reached as to the new park.

PICK FRENCH TO PLAY CUP MATCH

Americans May Meet Them In Supreme Net Battle At Germantown

By LAWRENCE PERRY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—In view of the victory of the French tennis team over England in the Davis cup match preliminaries, no one doubts that France will be the winner in the European zone, and will come to the United States for play against the American zone winner.

Some even go so far as to predict that this year will see American defenders engaged against French challengers in the Davis cup finals at Germantown. This pre-supposes the defeat of Australia by the Gallic racquet wielders in the inter-zone match at Longwood in September.

It might well happen. The French team is made up of a quartet of fiery youngsters, all of whom are improving constantly, whereas the Australians, as with the Americans, are, comparatively speaking, veterans.

Borotra Is Leader
American tennis enthusiasts who have been watching play in Europe this summer say that Jean Borotra, made marked forward strides in all departments of the game and they do not hesitate to name him as the most formidable player of the French team. He is dashing and brilliant, and at the same time has good control of all sorts of shots.

Rene Lacoste, inasmuch as he goes to the net for finishing shots much more often than his young colleague does, but, otherwise, there seems to be little to choose between the two young stars. It will be recalled that at Wimbledon Borotra put out Vincent Richards, and that Lacoste did the same for Norris Williams.

Any player who can turn a trick of this sort is entitled to every consideration by those who love to predict the outcome of tennis events. Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra, the other two members of the French team, Cochet lost his England-French singles to Brian Gilbert, but nevertheless is a first-class player, slightly below the level of Borotra and Lacoste, but sure, a fact, however, due more to the outstanding ability of the two stellar performers rather than to flaws in Cochet's game. Bruggon is about as good as Cochet and paired with Borotra, it makes up a really formidable doubles outfit.

$8000 FROM FINES

SANTA ANA, Aug. 5.—Fines and fees collected by state traffic officers patrolling the Orange county roads in the last four months total more than $8000, according to Capt. H. S. Warner. He adds that 90 per cent of those arrested live in Los Angeles county and that speeding leads the list of revenue producers.

ACTRESS DARES GHOSTS

OCEANSIDE, Aug. 5.—Huhl! A haunted house! That meant nothing to June Marlowe, film star, who took a room in a private residence rather than commingle with the vacationists here while filming a photoplay. And when the ghosts failed to appear she wondered if the departed souls had known how difficult it is to see a movie actress in person, particularly one who doesn't wear her hair bobbed.

APRICOT MEN REBEL

HEMET, Aug. 5.—Apricot growers of this section have rebelled at the action of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' association sale of last season's dried fruit when the price was low and they refuse to deliver the 1924 crop to the San Jose auctioneers. George E. Lunt, O. E. Kellner, E. O. Eggen, G. P. Hill and E. O. Pearce have been named as an organization committee to form a local marketing group.

MAY BAN HUNTING

SAN JACINTO, Aug. 5.—Deer hunting next month in the mountains near this city will likely be called off because of the fire danger. The blaze of the past week has caused orders to go forth that no smoking will be allowed in the federal forest reserves and fire arms will be banned, it is believed. If the hunters can lasso their quarry, good and well.

POISON KILLS POETESS

SANTA ANA, Aug. 5.—Miss Mary Doris Hutchins, aged 23, widely known as a southern California poet, is dead here, the result of a poison potion self-administered last Saturday. She was a member of the Southern California Women's Press association. Friends express their belief her death was accidental. Funeral services were held yesterday.

HOST TO SHRINERS

ORANGE, Aug. 5.—Three hundred Shriners last night enjoyed steaks which were broiled by William E. Bush, past potentate of Al Malakiah Shrine, Los Angeles, who is rated as a millionaire. He resides at Covina where many Masonic meetings are held at his home gardens.

REPEATS JAIL BREAK

FULLERTON, Aug. 5.—Reynolds and a desire to see his children who have been cared for in an orphanage, caused Frank Long, aged 23, to give up his wandering away from an Amarillo jail. He is being held in jail here awaiting the arrival of southern officers. "There is no sweetness in freedom not earned," he admits.

Split Over Debts of Russia Halts Treaty

LONDON, Aug. 5.—After an all-night session, the Anglo-Russian treaty conference broke down today over the question of recognition of the Russian debt and it was officially announced that a treaty would not be signed. Great Britain already has recognized the Soviet government.

The British insisted that the Soviet recognize the debts of the Czarist regime. The Russians wanted British banks to extend credits and to let the debt question go over for future examination. The delegates announced their intentions of leaving for Moscow immediately.

COMMENT That's All

Accept Defeat Gracefully
Safety Week Good Idea
Some Causes Of Accidents
See California First!

—By Gil A. Cowan

There is something heart-breaking in the reports of Lieut. Leigh Wade being forced out of the globe-circling flight of American planes as he was homeward bound, but more pathetic is the fate of Major McLaren of the British army, who, single handed, tried to make the trip. That both are alive is good, for their admirers are legion.

However, to return home without laurels of victory; to accept defeat gracefully; to dodge precious fame earned, it would seem, is to drink of the dregs.

Of the American flyers, Lieut. Erick Nelson has the best record to date, yet it may be fate which will hold him up, or both he and Lieut. Lowell Smith may accomplish that which they started out to do. Here's hoping.

My, how Glendale does grow and grow and GROW. Bigger and better than ever before this city is forging to the front among southern California towns because of its ideal location and its high-class citizenry.

Time was when Glendale gained what little fame it had from being an actors' colony and crossroads village. But with the automobiles and highways bringing it closer to the heart of Los Angeles than most of Los Angeles, Glendale stepped into fame and population as the highest class residential suburb, devoid of those things which have marred or made other communities what they are.

"Safety Week" in Glendale is a great idea. Careful driving is a matter of education, but how can you educate cars which make impossible the careful driving on the part of motorists.

Lack of pickup, insufficient power plants for lighting, balloon tires without perfected steering apparatus—these are a few of the causes of accidents which neither attention nor arrest will overcome.

Then there are drivers, such as the oriental fruit peddlers who insist on riding all over the road; the natural-born road hog who doesn't drive sufficiently to realize there are more motorists in California than any other state in the union; the deaf person who doesn't hear the warning horn—one could mention another hundred contributing causes for accidents which have no relatively efficient, even though fast driving.

If "Safety Week" is to be a success girls also will have to forego the pleasure of "getting" and the gabblers who insist on talking to other occupants of their cars while driving—looking 'em in the eye and using their otherwise useful hands to emphasize remarks or point out objects of interest.

Another cause for accidents is the different brake systems now in vogue. The majority of cars have slow action foot brakes which are quite effective until the driver gets behind one of the "modern and improved" four-wheel braked cars which stop almost as quickly as the pneumatic braked machines.

And people must remember their signals in stopping, starting and turning corners. They are the indirect cause of any number of accidents. Also, children and beginners who have not experience in traffic should be aware of the boulevards.

What a list of "Don'ts" could be arranged which would not affect the drunken or reckless driver or the speed fiend.

If you are taking a vacation trip "See California First." There is sufficient in the way of attractions to keep you in the confines of the state for years of travel and then you would not be able to enjoy all.

Ocean trips to San Diego or San Francisco, motor trips to the beaches, desert or mountains; pack trails into nature's wonderland; not to forget the valleys and their cities, offer a variety found no place else in the world than California.

Little wonder the effete east comes here to enjoy life.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—One wonders if the policemen, who are seen hammering the pavements day after day, ever get tired and take a vacation. They sure do. Many are following the lead of Captain William Hagenbaugh of the San Pedro division in seeing California. He took his family to Yosemite for two weeks. Detective Lieutenant Jerry Hickey and other members of the force are at Murrieta. Vacations are the one bright spot in a policeman's life.

ARTIST TEACHES CHINA PAINTING

Decoration of Dainty Table Wear Is Specialty of New Establishment

Exquisite, artistic and dainty is the work of Ada Klase-Hanlon, who has recently opened a China Shoppe at 133 South Maryland, and the announcement of the advent of such an exclusive shop as the Hanlon's China Shoppe will be received with great enthusiasm by the femininity of Glendale.

Mrs. Hanlon's wide experience and ability in the art of china decoration qualifies her to take her place among the real artists in this line, and during her several years' residence in San Francisco has become well known throughout the better shops and studios of that city.

Will Teach Art
In addition to the artistic and distinctive stock of china-decorated china, which this shop carries and which is the work of Mrs. Hanlon, classes are being formed for the study of this art and those interested in receiving this culture will profit by interviewing Mrs. Hanlon at an early date.

Mrs. Hanlon is now preparing exquisite gifts for the holiday season and those desiring a gift of this type should make their selections at the earliest possible moment to insure delivery before the Christmas rush begins.

SIX WEEKS' TRIP LEADS TO OREGON

Ed M. Lee and Family Visit Old Glendale Friends on Northern Run

Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Lee and son, Kenneth, of 345 North Belmont street, are giving interesting accounts of a six weeks' motor trip, from which they have just returned home.

From Glendale they motored to Bishop and then on to Mammoth lake. Later they visited Yosemite valley, where they spent the Fourth of July. Going on north they reached Klamath, Crater and Diamond lakes in Oregon. Grant's Pass was the limit of their journey north.

Coming south they visited the Oregon caves and came on to Crescent City, where they had the happiness of visiting with Mrs. Hendershott and daughter, Mrs. Francis Hendershott Walton, formerly of Glendale.

They traveled on the Redwood highway and in Scotia visited one of the largest lumber camps in California. At Trinidad they went through a whaling station.

At San Jose they were greeted by Mrs. Lawrence Ellis and her mother, Mrs. Ravenscroft, formerly of Glendale. With them the Lees spent two days at the Big Basin.

During their trip they found the best fishing in Mammoth lake.
